We seek a candidate for a predoctoral contract for research staff in training of the “Santiago Grisolia” program (link, in Spanish) with start date October 1, 2017. The candidate must have university degree by a non-Spanish institution and to have finished the studies after January 31, 2014, in the field of Biological Sciences, Environmental Sciences, Ecology or similar.

The Doctoral Thesis will focus on the study of the Variability of the postfire strategies of Mediterranean plants in relation to global change (reference: GRISOLIAP/2017/176). The thesis will be carried out in the Department of Plant Ecology of Centro de Investigaciones sobre Desertificación in Valencia, Spain, a joint research center (Consejo Superior de Investigaciones Científicas, Universitat de València y Generalitat Valenciana). The thesis will be supervised by B. Moreira and J.G. Pausas.

Candidates must meet the requirements of the call and apply following the call: LINK and documents (only available in Spanish). The deadline for submitting applications is the 14 July 2017. In addition, people who meet the requirements and are interested in applying to the above mentioned project, should also send, a letter of motivation and the CV to Bruno Moreira (email: brjmoreira@gmail.com).

Details of the offer: http://www.uv.es/jgpausas/sebusca2017.html#EN