

PhD position in community ecology / evolutionary biology at Utah State University

Hello,

I'm looking for a PhD student with experience in plant community ecology or evolutionary biology to start in my lab at Utah State University. The PhD will combine fieldwork and modelling, is fully-funded, and includes money to travel to conferences and working groups.

More details and application instructions are available online (<http://pearselab.com/join-the-lab/>). I will review applications as they come in on a first-come-first-served basis. I'm happy to answer any questions over email (will.pearse@usu.edu).

Thanks,

Will Pearse
