I would greatly appreciate your assistance in distributing this message to folks you think may be up for an adventure in Alaska!

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to have moose, grizzly bears, and lynx strolling through your yard, set against the amazing backdrop of snowcapped mountain peaks? Then apply to join our team in Anchorage, Alaska! The recruiting announcement for the Regional Endangered Species Coordinator in Alaska is now open. This supervisory position is responsible for providing guidance and leadership to the Endangered Species program in the Alaska Region as well as coordinating with Headquarters and other regions on endangered species issues. This is a key position in our Ecological Services Program and will require the individual to be knowledgeable in all aspects of the Endangered Species Act. The position also offers a unique opportunity to work on the challenging intersect between the ESA and Marine Mammal Protection Act.

We may also fill the Regulatory Branch Manager for our Marine Mammal Management Program with this announcement. While knowledge in implementing the Marine Mammal Protection Act is an important skill to have for this position, being able to manage a team that is engaged in complex, controversial, and high-profile work is key. Please help us spread the word for these two great opportunities in the Alaska Region!!

(Note: moose, grizzly bear, and lynx sightings are not guaranteed, but are pretty amazing if they do occur.)

Merit: https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/585441000

DE: https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/585441500

Please let Drew Crane or me know if you have any questions about these positions.

Mary Colligan
Assistant Regional Director
Fisheries and Ecological Services
U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Alaska Region
1011 E. Tudor Road, MS-361
Anchorage, AK 99503
office: 907-786-3505
cell: 907-223-5945