

Join us

in a community conversation on belonging and broadening the conservation stake.

Community Read

The Home Place is a personal exploration of what it means to stand out and stand up for nature and the diversity of people it inspires. Join fellow NREM students, faculty, and staff in reading and discussing this important book during Fall 2020.

- Free books distributed to NREM students
- Student and faculty-lead discussion groups
- Meetings with the author

Errington Lecture

Connecting the conservation dots and coloring the conservation message

Thursday October 22nd 7:00 pm online

Tune in virtually for a presentation by The Home Place author, Dr. Drew Lanham. Dr. Lanham is a Clemson University professor, wildlife ecologist, poet, and author.

Learn more: <https://www.nrem.iastate.edu/nrem-reads>